TEACHING AND LEGAL EXPERIENCE

UNIVERSITY OF MAINE SCHOOL OF LAW, Portland, Maine

Professor, September 2016 – Present

Co-Director of Maine Law's Clinics, December 2022 – June 1, 2025

Associate Clinical Professor, May 2014 – September 2016

Libra Visiting Professor, July 2012 – May 2014

Courses: Refugee and Human Rights Clinic (founder and director); Lawyering Skills for Clinical Practice Seminar

Designed, launched and supervise a live, in-house clinic in which second- and third-year law students represent individual noncitizens in immigration matters and engage in community-based education, advocacy and impact work. Develop curricula for classroom teaching, supervisory meetings, and case rounds. Supervise students on a range of cases and projects including: asylum, Special Immigrant Juvenile Status petitions, humanitarian parole, adjustment of status, naturalization, immigrant detention, community organizing, outreach and education, impact litigation, and advocacy reports and manuals. Focus on interviewing, counseling, fact development/investigation, negotiation, legal research, legal writing, oral argument, and problem-solving skills. Coordinate involvement with local, regional and national legal aid organizations, immigrants' right coalitions, and other nonprofit organizations on referrals and collaborative projects.

Teach and develop experiential curricula and teach the accompanying Lawyering Skills for Clinical Practice Seminar. Developed and taught the Immigration Law Seminar. Guest lecture on immigration consequences of criminal activity in First-Year Criminal Law course. Guest lecture on client interviewing and counseling in First-Year Legal Writing course.

Supervise several students on independent writing projects and independent studies/projects related to immigration law and practice. Advise students on pursuing careers in immigration and human rights law.

Member and chair/prior chair of several Maine Law faculty committees.

STANFORD LAW SCHOOL, Stanford, California
Cooley Godward Kronish Fellow, July 2010 – June 2012
Course: Immigrants' Rights Clinic

Co-taught live, in-house clinic in which second and third year law students represented individual immigrants and engaged in multiple forms of immigration advocacy. Supervised students on a range of cases and projects including, e.g., deportation defense cases, Violence Against Women Act petitions; U visa applications; asylum applications; appellate litigation; advocacy reports; community organizing; and Know Your Rights materials.

Participated in curriculum development, classroom teaching and case rounds. Lectured on asylum law, domestic violence, client interviewing, working with interpreters, case theory and other select topics as part of weekly seminar.

Represented clinic clients in immigration courts, before administrative agencies, and in federal court litigation. Participated in local and national immigrants' rights coalitions.

UNIVERSITY OF MAINE SCHOOL OF LAW, Portland, Maine
Adjunct Professor, Immigration Law, Fall 2009

Designed curriculum for immigration law course and instructed approximately 20 second- and third-year law students on fundamentals of immigration law. Led discussion sessions and moot hearings on a range of immigration topics. Provided feedback on student work through one-on-one student meetings and final grading. Advised and counseled students within Maine Law's Clinics on asylum cases.

VERRILL, LLP, Portland, Maine
Chair of Immigration Department, September 2006 – May 2010
Labor & Employment Associate, March 2007 – May 2010

Represented clients in a variety of family and employment-based immigrant and non-immigrant matters, naturalization, adjustment of status, waivers of inadmissibility, and removal defense. Represented immigrants seeking asylum (both at the affirmative and defensive levels) and protection under the Violence Against Women Act. Supervised associates handling complicated asylum, refugee and VAWA cases. Represented clients in state and federal court litigation and before state administrative agencies on a wide range of labor and employment matters.

Conducted extensive pro bono immigration work and awarded Attorney of the Year in 2008 by the Immigrant Legal Advocacy Project.

REFUGEPOINT (FORMERLY MAPENDO INTERNATIONAL), Nairobi, Kenya
Human Rights Attorney, Protection Unit, January – March 2010

Handled dozens of urban refugee cases. Prepared Resettlement Referral Forms (RRFs) for submission to the U.S. and Australian governments. Prepared waivers of inadmissibility and otherwise advocated on behalf of refugees before the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and the U.S. and Australian governments.

Collaborated with the UNHCR in addressing mechanisms in place to protect orphaned children and young girls.

J. WILLIAM FULBRIGHT FOREIGN SCHOLARSHIP, U.S. STATE DEPT., Lima, Peru
Fulbright Fellow, August 2005 – July 2006

Investigated the Peruvian government's ongoing efforts to privatize Peru's water system to determine whether those efforts effectively balanced efficiency goals with human rights needs. Monitored legislation, contracts, and various legal norms in place to regulate private and public water utilities.

Conducted interviews with, and gathered information from, local experts including regulatory professors at the University of the Pacific in Lima, officials at the Ministry of Housing, Construction and Sanitation, and the general manager and other key officials at SUNASS (Peru's federal water and sanitation regulatory agency).

Collaborated with Lima-based, non-profit organization DESCO to establish a public water management system in Chosica, one of Lima's "pueblos juvenes."
